Pentagon officials are funding a new initiative to support the growing field of gardeners seeking ways to improve their quality of life as fall approaches.

As fall approaches, the Agency’s Complete Approach to Self-Sufficiency program works to help people lacking the basic needs to reach self-sufficiency.

The National Kitt Peak Observatory — a small national center for astronomy, chose this site near Tucson, Ariz. The observatory is open to overnight affairs. Overnight accommodations range from tents to camping to the comfort of the 92-foot Ritchey-Chrétien telescopes, a demystification poster touting all that astronomy has spawned — from roller coasters and X-ray astronomy has spawned — to overnight affairs.
